This project aims to develop professional architects with European oriented minds in Bosnia & Herzegovina, Armenia and Belarus. Professionals that will bring European values to the partner countries, will be a refreshment to the market in these countries. Architects and civil engineers in the project, whether they are students, academic staff, or professionals, will create a sophisticated working environment that will ensure better designs, buildings, and better usage of space and energy in new designs, as well as reconstructing the old buildings with saving their values. This project aims also to connect the graduated students with companies as they will take part in discussions related to the required courses that will improve and increase the chance of potential candidates in finding jobs.
